Hi Tabatha:

Here is my response about being late. I have never been involved in a campaign before. I am trying to be correct about my financial affairs.

On the C-1 I believed that the two weeks started on the Friday, May 17, 2019 when the filing period closed and all candidates were in.

On the F-1 report I was hoping to have a separate campaign account yet with the same financial institution that I have been banking with for over 35 years for simplicity sake. I was in the middle of making some changes to this account since it hadn't been corrected since moving and the paperwork took a lot longer than anticipated. Since I did not have any campaign contributions and no expenditures I didn't not think I had anything to report. As soon as I did get a campaign contribution I opened a bank account for my campaign. I apologize for not realizing that I was late.
