

File a Formal Complaint - Glen Morgan

Glen Morgan reported Thu, 25 Jul 2019 at 9:22 AM)

To whom it may concern,

It has come to my attention that Ricky Moon who is a 2019 candidate for the Poulsbo City Council, position #3, has violated Washington State's campaign finance laws (RCW 42.17A). Additionally, it appears he also violated Washington State's campaign finance laws in his failed 2017 campaign for Poulsbo Mayor.

1) Actively campaigning, before filing "statement of organization" (C1). (Violation of RCW 42.17 a.210(1) and RCW 42.17A.205)

State law requires each candidate, within 2 weeks after becoming a candidate, to file a statement of organization (C1). This candidate failed to do so within two weeks of filing week (May 13th thru 17th 2019). As of the date of this complaint he has still not filed his C1, which is far beyond the 2 weeks required in state law. This is a clear, unambiguous violation of state law. The primary election itself is only a few days away. By violating RCW 42.17a.210 and RCW 41.17A.205 --failing to declare this candidate's candidacy (C1) the voters also don't know who is serving as this candidate's treasurer, who the officers of this candidate's political committee are, where this candidate is banking the campaign funds for this political campaign, what address to use when inspecting the campaign books, etc.

For proof of this active campaign, please see the attached screen shot of Kitsap County's list of voters who have filed to run for office. Ricky Moon is clearly identified as a candidate for the Poulsbo City Council, position #3. Additionally, I have attached an article where he was interviewed by a local paper after he decided to run for office.

It is worthwhile to point out to the PDC that Mr. Moon is a veteran experienced political candidate for office. Please see the attached 2017 article about his failed attempt to run for Poulsbo Mayor. Additionally, Mr. Moon demonstrated his familiarity and knowledge of Washington State's campaign finance laws in 2017 by at least filing a 2017 C1 (see attached). However, it appears this time around, in 2019, Mr. Moon couldn't be bothered to comply. This is far more than a minor technical mistake – it is another example where electoral outcomes – potentially very significant for the local community - will certainly occur and at least one candidate running for office is failing to follow the law. It should be noted that his opponent appears to be attempting some level of compliance with the Fair Campaign Practices Act, which is a dramatic contrast to Mr. Moon's stealth campaign for office.

2) Failure to file Personal Financial Disclosure Forms (F-1) (Violation of RCW 42.17A.700)

In addition to not registering his campaign with the PDC, this candidate has also failed to file any personal financial disclosure documents during this campaign season. This was due months ago, and it is particularly significant because in his 2017 campaign, he claims to have self-funded his campaign. Again, for the record, Mr. Moon did provide an F1 in his failed 2017 campaign, so he is familiar with the law, how it works, and how to comply. He just decided this time that the rules no longer apply to him.

3). Failure to file Contribution or Expenditure Reports (Violation of RCW 42.17A.235)

This candidate has also failed to file any contribution or expenditure reports from his campaign. It should be noted that this failure to comply also includes a total absence of any reported information to the PDC for the public to see anything about this campaign and how it has spent the resources on this election campaign. Even if this campaign claims to be filing a "mini-reporting" campaign, their failure to provide an address to review their books means that it is impossible for the public to review the information about who is funding this campaign and how funds were spent to support this campaign.

While I have publicly advocated for many years on the need for more flexibility for the PDC to address and resolve minor technical mistakes, and this is why I was supportive of many of 2018's HB 2938 reforms, there still must be some clear penalty assigned to candidates who choose to completely ignore and mock EVERY SINGLE campaign finance rule that exists. In these cases, a slap on the wrist and a "naughty, naughty, naughty" statement is probably not much of a deterrent. Ghost campaigns like this one should be held accountable for a complete unwillingness to follow the state's campaign finance laws.

Another point to make here is that in Moon's failed 2017 campaign, he filed full reporting and did (in a haphazard manner) file C3 and C4 reports. It appears highly likely that he is also running a full reporting campaign this year, but his lack of ANY disclosure turns any analysis of this campaign into a speculative exercise because nothing has been reporting.

4) Failure to accurately describe expense. (Violation of RCW 42.17A.240(6) & WAC 390-16-037, RCW 42.17A.235)

Moon's campaign has regularly failed to follow Washington State's Campaign Finance laws as they apply to the reporting of expenditures, even when he was going through the motion of complying with the campaign finance laws. For example, when he did bother to file his C4 expenditure reports during his 2017 campaign, most of the C4s this campaign filed contains violations of the statute and the rules written by the Public Disclosure Commission which support the statute. Here are some examples that need to be corrected, for the record, by Moon's campaign to at least go through the motions of complying with the statute:

Examples of a failure to provide sufficient detail of expenditures (unambiguous violations of RCW 42.17A.240(6) and WAC 390-16-037 (see example B provided at WAC 390-16-037(3)):

For example, the expenditures reported on the attached 2017 C4 reports failed to report how many pieces of literature, signs, and flyers were printed and purchased from BlueSky Printing. These are clear violations of WAC 390-16-037(3) and the example B provided in the code, written by the PDC. There is simply insufficient information provided on most of these reports, in addition to some reports being untimely filed.

Please don't hesitate to contact me if you need any additional information.

Best Regards,

Glen Morgan

Ricky D. Moon ... Poulsbo mayoral candidate's arrests between 2002 and 2007 included possession of drug paraphernalia, false reporting, negligent driving, operating equipment without a valid operator's license and valid ID, driving with a suspended license, and third-degree theft. ## Poulsbo mayoral candidate Ricky Moon in court on various charges between 2002-07 | Updated

By Richard Walker

POULSBO — Poulsbo mayoral candidate Ricky D. Moon answered questions at a League of Women Voters candidates forum Oct. 9 about downtown parking, affordable housing, and the Growth Management Act.

But Moon didn't have to answer one resident's question about his brushes with the law between 2002 and 2009.

Moderator Catherine Ahl said at the beginning of the forum that she would not ask a question that was directed at only one candidate.

A resident said he submitted a question about Moon's record in the last decade. According to a search of the Washington Courts database, Moon was charged with third-degree theft in 2007; driving with a suspended license in 2007 and 2006; operating equipment without a valid operator's license and valid ID in 2006; negligent driving in 2005; false reporting in 2003; and possession of drug paraphernalia in 2002.

Moon and his daughter, campaign manager Amanda Hogue, did not respond to the North Kitsap Herald's requests for comment.

Detailed court records for most of the cases are no longer on file because they took place a decade ago.

According to an available record, the 2007 driving with a suspended license charge was dismissed without prejudice, meaning the prosecutor could decide to indict or retry Moon for the same criminal charge at a later date.

Regarding the 2007 third-degree theft case in Poulsbo Municipal Court, the file "has been destroyed per the state records retention schedule," court records officer Linda Baker emailed early Oct. 17. According to the record available in the state court computer system, she wrote, "The charge was Theft 3 – which is a misdemeanor. The case was dismissed/compromise of misdemeanor [and] a $50 fine assessed, which typically means the parties came to an agreement."

In the 2005 negligent driving case — for which court records are available — Moon was pulled over shortly before midnight July 13, 2005 near Highway 104 and Barber Cutoff Road after a sheriff's officer saw him driving in the opposing lane, swerve to avoid an oncoming vehicle, and almost hit a guardrail. Moon, a contractor, told the officer he had been working round the clock, and on the job site drank one 24-ounce can of Ice House Beer on an empty stomach. Ice House has 5.5 percent alcohol. His blood alcohol level was measured at .094, above the legal limit of .08.

Moon was initially charged with DUI, but the charge was reduced to negligent driving. He was convicted on Dec. 9, 2005, received a suspended sentence of 90 days in jail and a $1,000 fine, and two years' probation.

Moon is running for mayor against incumbent Becky Erickson in the Nov. 7 election. The mayor is the full-time, salaried chief executive officer of the city. The mayor is elected for a four-year term and is paid $74,678 a year.

Former mayoral candidate Ricky Moon files for Poulsbo City Council

By Nick Twietmeyer

Friday, May 17, 2019 3:37pm | NEWS

Ricky Moon has once again thrown his hat into the ring for local government, having filed for Poulsbo City Council Position 3 on Friday, May 17.

Moon was able to squeeze in on the last day of election filings, but Friday's filing wasn't Moon's first attempt at entering the political scene. In 2017 Moon ran against incumbent mayor Becky Erickson, before losing by a landslide that November.

Later, in early 2018, Moon attempted to fill a seat on the council left open by John Bukowsky. Bukowsky won the November election, but opted not to take the position after deciding that the demands of his day job were too high. Moon later withdrew from consideration for the position, citing a recent cancer diagnosis, for which he would be seeking treatment.
