

Complaint Description

Glen Morgan (Fri, 25 Oct 2019 at 2:12 AM)

To whom it may concern,

It has come to my attention that DUCHASTEL DE MONTROUGE NICOLAS, a candidate for the Woodinville City Council, position 6 has violated Washington State's campaign finance laws. These violations are as follows:

1) Failure to provide candidate name or address on paid advertisements in local newspaper (Violation of RCW 42.17A.320(1))

This candidate appears to have spent $840 (See PDC Report # 100938494) on 5 weeks of 2x4 color advertisements in the Woodinville Weekly and failed to include the candidate's required disclosure statement including his name and address and indications that he paid for this ad. Please see attached photos of the October 24, 2019 paper and a close up photo of the illegal ad itself.

This candidate must go back and fix this illegal violation of Washington State's campaign finance laws, and prevent any future ads from being illegal. He must apologize to the world for this great violation and he should be forced to read the entire statute three times over (including the WACs) as part of his punishment and to serve as a reminder (and an example to others) of what not to do, and to remind him to promise to follow the law next time.

Let me know if you need anything else.

Best Regards,

Glen Morgan

What impact does the alleged violation(s) have on the public?

Even this guy needs to follow the law when it comes to providing a proper candidate statement on the advertisements he puts in the paper. The public has a right to know who is paying for these annoying political ads.

Community

The two facilities serve over 5,000 seniors and individuals living with disabilities.

The maintenance and operations levy would cost the average homeowner in the district around $1.70 per month, or just over $20 a year.

The best-case scenario for Northshore Seniors to continue the life they've become accustomed to is Prop 1 passes capital improvements are funded. The worst-case it fails, which could result in major fallout.

For many seniors, the Center is a central part of their lives because of its ability to act as the central point for individuals to meet one another and enjoy enriched experiences throughout the community.

Peg English has been coming to the Center for six years and has made so many friends. In addition to enjoying the dynamic and robust environment of the center, she volunteers in the "Bookie" office and serves on the Advisory Council.

"A typical Bookie day would consist of me meeting with seniors wishing to book one of our Day Trips, and planning trips for the next quarter," English said. "I also see and talk to the staff, other volunteers and any seniors who just stop by to talk to me. I always use the opportunity to help them understand what the Center can do for them — I may call a staff person in to meet with them and help resolve a pressing problem."

English shares space with the Employment Office and the Meals on Wheels team making an easy and collaborative space to access and handle issues.

"I cannot count the times I've been told by a senior booking a Day Trip that they love our trips because it gets them out of their house and something fun to do."

Being at the Center makes her feel part of something larger: her community. She mentioned one time she heard a member say that the Center saved his life. If the center didn't exist English said her life would change drastically.

"While I live in a senior apartment building which is a wonderful community of its own, I would not be exposed to the greater opportunities the cities around me offer."

"My exposure to new and wonderful other people would be greatly limited. The resources the Center offers is unlike anything else available to us in this area. It gives physical, emotional, and mental support services unique to the Northshore."

A couple of the more popular things for residents at the Center to participate in is The Northshore Wranglers Inclusion Program, which is all about equity and including everyone, and Promoting "Fun For All," founded in 1998 as a non-profit service of the Health and Wellness Department operated by the Northshore Senior Center.

The service provides inclusive fun and fosters friendship for people of all ages and abilities. Because the program itself is part of the Center, there would be a significant negative impact if the levy failed. The Wranglers might not only lose their home but the service that makes their group possible.

Nigel Aspen has been participating with the Wranglers for nearly a decade.

"My community is Wranglers. Through it, I participate in so many fun activities... Special Olympics, bowling and track, fitness, art, and special events," he said. "Without the Center, I

An unbalanced City Council could make decisions that would threaten R-1 zoning. For example, a vote to upzone any R-1 area to R-4 or higher (4 dwelling units / acre) could force sewer into our community, costing each homeowner $35,000 to $50,000 for hook-up. This is not an option once a decision has been made.

CNW has fought hard to preserve the wooded character of R-1. We need to ensure our City Council members will help continue to preserve the character of all of our neighborhoods.

said. "We want to connect business owners and their team with others in the community, help with issues that arise when they are unsure where to turn, and offer the chance to be a part of something greater."

"If the center closed I would be devastated. It helps me stay active and stimulated, gets me out of the house and gives me a place where I belong without any barriers or limitations. I would be stuck at home most of the time. Northshore Inclusion is like a lifeline, I'd be lost without it."

"Beyond that, our Chamber is more invested in the community as a whole, than many Chambers are, I believe. We produce the Celebrate Woodinville summer and winter series of events for this community, and I want to focus on continuing the longstanding traditions they've become for residents and visitors alike."

One of the more popular seasonal events the Chamber sponsors is the upcoming Winterfest.

"It's just around the corner (Dec. 7) and I couldn't be more thrilled with how it's coming along," Ellertson said. "Our Winterfest 5K/10K walk and run gets bigger every year and we love seeing everyone out there in their holiday festive attire."

"The Winterfest Holiday Fair and Tree Lighting will take place from 3-6 p.m. in DeYoung Park and we have some remarkable partnerships that are going to make this year so much fun. You'll have to see it to believe it!"

businesses, families, visitors — everyone. Taking this next step, as the Executive Director, is a role I'm ready for and I hope to serve our community well."

Ellertson's main focus as Executive Director will center on making the Chamber an organization that promotes and strengthens business in Woodinville.

"I'm incredibly passionate about that — hopefully businesses that are in this community know that the Woodinville Chamber is a must for their business," Ellertson
