Thank you for your email and your friendly reminder of the PDC's regulations regarding party affiliation attribution. By the way, I have noticed many many signs in our county without the attribution of sponsorship with the requirement to use a font size 1/10th that of the largest font used on the sign. I do have this sponsorship attribution and with the proper font size on all my signs already.

While I still believe a County Commissioner must represent all residents of their county regardless of party affiliation, I was unaware of the requirement to put the "(R)" on my signage. A friendly candidate spoke to me after the meeting last Saturday and advised me of the regulation and I thanked them for their helpful guidance.

First thing on Monday morning, July 1, I contacted my printer and all the new yard and field signs will show the (R) party designation. I am now in the process of carefully handprinting the (R) on all existing yard signs.

"So, 'thanks', Norm Smith (he said sarcastically). Problem solved. You could have saved the PDC and yourself a lot of hassle if you'd simply, quietly, and kindly chatted with me for a couple of quick minutes after the meeting on Saturday evening. But that's not your style, is it!? I know you think you are the center-of-attention-ringmaster on the Pend Oreille County Circus political forum, but most people in our county view you as the Court Jester... the Clown. I've never gone to your forum and I have no intention of ever visiting your social media page. Your political opinion means absolutely nothing to me. Other than that, I have no strong opinion about you! LOL" ~ Steve Haroldson Minnich

All my best for your continued success!
