Complaint Description
Joe Kunzler reported via the portal 4 days ago (Mon, 14 Oct 2024 at 6:52 PM) I have had about enough of the Beyond Sanity behind I-2117 and its threats to paratransit funding, kids' ride-free transit funding, other forms of transit funding, and funding to ferries. Worse yet, I just learned that the Let's Go Washington campaign behind this is using funds to bribe low-information voters into thinking that somehow I-2117 is responsible alone for the gas price being above the national average. That's just not true. I-2117's passage would not alone bring us down to the national average and there are other factors as per this Forbes article - among others. However, we're here to discuss campaign finance law violations, so let's do that. Please look at just one of these tweets mentioned above: "Let's Go Washington is rolling back the price of gas to the national average and will pay the difference on every gallon of gas purchased from 8-10 AM." I also attached the screenshot of another tweet just to back this up. If insufficient, I made a PDF of their campaign website twice to hopefully make clear the scale of these events. It's clear what these events at gas stations without proper sponsor identification is about: Misleading voters that I-2117 will put gas prices back at the national average - not that I-2117 will mean voters get less. Less state aid for transit. Less funding for clean, new ferries we can depend on. Less restoration projects. It's about in the initiative proponent's own verbosity, taking over gas stations and covering price differences between the listed price and the national average, "To highlight the importance of passing Initiative 2117. We're rolling back gas prices to help you save some money!" If these "Gas Price Rollback!" events are not clear violations of RCW 29A.84.250 (3) - then what is? When will you act if the PDC cannot or will not act on this one?

Finally, it's safe to say these events also did not disclose the campaign's biggest sponsors as required under RCW 42.17A.320 and RCW 42.17A.350. I'm just throwing that into the hopper, too.

What impact does the alleged violation(s) have on the public?

The use of campaign funds to reduce gas prices in a clear attempt to violate RCW 29A.84.250 (3) is creating an unfair campaign advantage. It's also clearly illegal and should nullify the initiative's passage.

Safe to say these events also did not disclose the campaign's biggest sponsors as required under RCW 42.17A.320 and RCW 42.17A.350.

Nationwide Pew Research finds that 63% of Americans believe global warming will be worse in their lifetime. That percentage is likely higher in Washington.
